

DR MRS AMBRITI SALVE SCHOLARSHIP AT EXETER COLLEGE, OXFORD

Further Particulars

Following a generous gift made by Mr Harish Salve, a Friend of Exeter College, we are offering a Scholarship for an Indian graduate student wishing to undertake a BCL at Exeter College, University of Oxford.

The Scholarship will be tenable from 1 October 2012 for one year although, should the Scholar be offered, and accept, a place on the MPhil course having excelled on the BCL course, a further year's funding will be made available. The Scholarship is worth the full recommended maintenance allowance (equivalent to the Research Council grant £13,590 pa) and is attached to a Clarendon Award (which covers the full cost of University and College fees). Should there not be a suitable Clarendon Award candidate consideration will be given to awarding the Scholarship independently at the same value of £13,590 pa.

Eligibility criteria:

The Scholar must

- be an Indian national, preferably though not necessarily resident in India;
- have already been accepted into the University of Oxford onto the BCL course);
- commit to remaining at Exeter College, University of Oxford for the duration of his or her BCL course and, if applicable, the MPhil;

Application

1. Candidates must first apply directly to Oxford University, in the usual way, for admission to the course they wish to study, expressing a preference for Exeter College and noting their wish to apply for this Scholarship on the application form. Detailed advice will be available on request from the University.
2. Once a candidate has secured a place on the BCL course, he or she should apply in writing to Academic Administrator at Exeter College, sending an academic curriculum vitae and a cover letter.
3. Should a candidate have applied to Oxford and not yet heard back from the University regarding their application prior to the advertised closing date for this scholarship, they may still apply, as per point 2 above, indicating this fact.

The closing date for applications is 20 January 2012
