

Conference and Events Guide

EXETER
COLLEGE
OXFORD

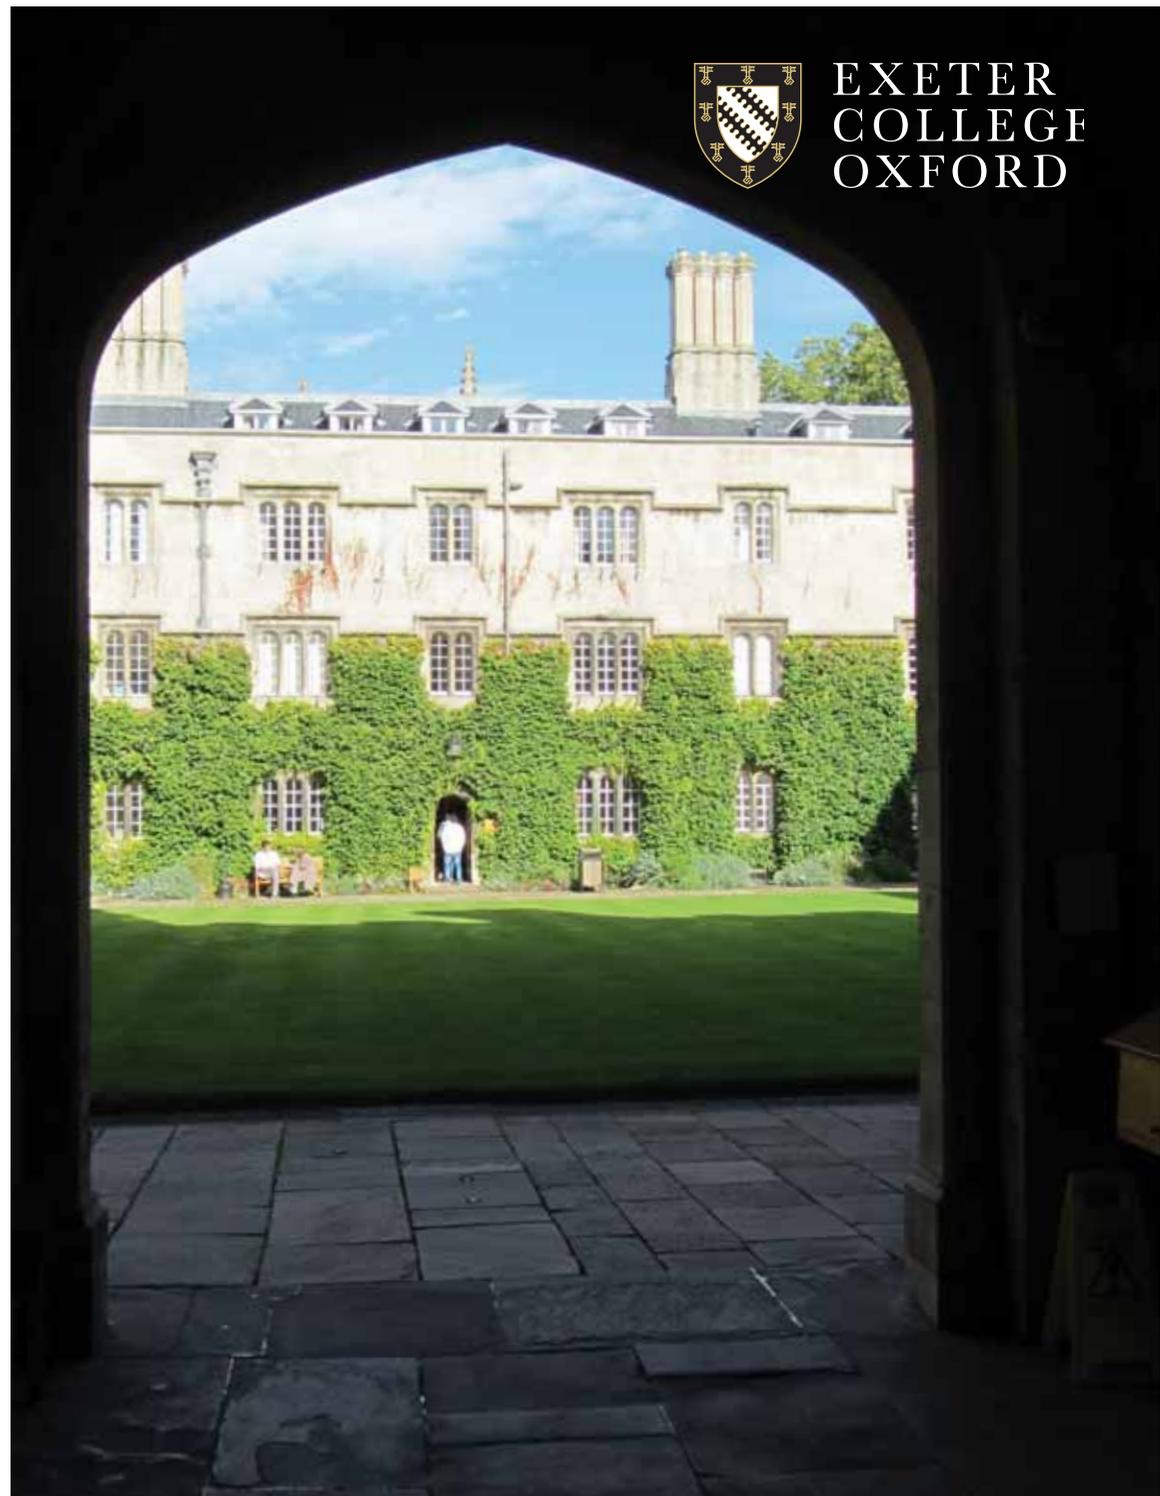

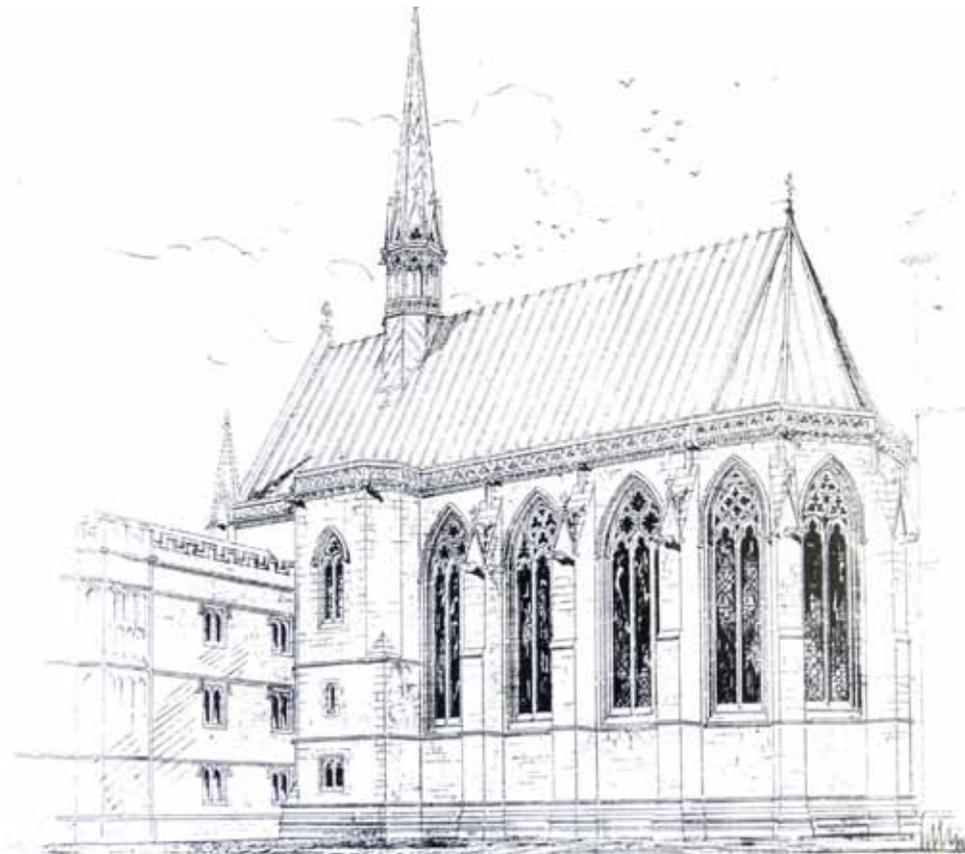

Founded in 1314 by the Bishop of Exeter, Walter de Stapeldon, Exeter College is the fourth oldest College in the University of Oxford and boasts many celebrated former students. J.R.R. Tolkien was an undergraduate here, as were William Morris and Edward Burne-Jones. Sir Roger Bannister, Alan Bennett, Philip Pullman and Martin Amis also studied here. Exeter served as a film location for The Golden Compass, based on Pullman's novel Northern Lights. There have also been numerous occasions when the College has been the location for Lewis, Endeavour and Morse. In 2016 our Chapel was used for the Marvel film Dr Strange.

Exeter College is a beautiful, historic location for meetings, dinners, weddings and residential conferences.

Welcome to Exeter College

This brochure is a preliminary port of call to guide you through the facilities we offer for conferences and events. If you would like more information, or wish to make a booking, please contact the Steward to discuss things further.

The College can provide a number of mobile data projectors and laptops for the meeting rooms. We also offer a full WiFi facility throughout the site.

Quarrell Room

The Quarrell Room provides a distinctive and agreeable space for lectures, seminars or meetings. The tables and chairs can be rearranged to suit the function of the room.

Rector's Drawing Room

Plenty of natural light and views onto the Rector's private garden make this an ideal location for a boardroom or presentation.

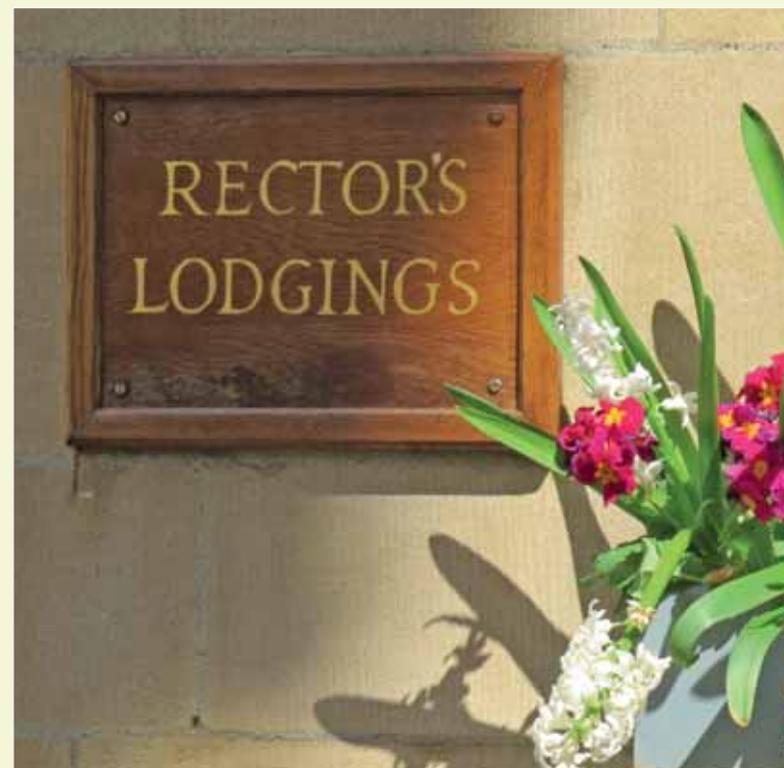

Stapeldon Room

The Stapeldon Room is well suited for meetings, lectures and seminars.

Morris Room

The William Morris Room, which makes an ideal conference office, houses a number of Burne-Jones drawings and tapestries by William Morris. The Morris Room can be equipped with data projector or screen, white board and flip-chart.

Catering

Exeter College has a proud history of catering at a very high level for functions of varying sizes. Our award winning Head Chef is always available to discuss menus and planning. Please ask for our current banqueting menus and winelist. Final numbers and dietary requirements are required at least seven days prior to the event. Organisers are asked to supply a seating plan for special dinners. The College can provide place cards and menu cards as part of your package.

Dining Hall

The Dining Hall, dating back to 1618, provides an historic setting for all conference meals and is especially suited to banquets. The long, polished, wooden tables can seat a maximum capacity of 154 guests (minimum 40 during the week, 120 on Saturday or Sunday).

Rector's Drawing Room

A unique experience to eat in the Rector's private Drawing Room. The Rector is the head of the College and has given permission for this room to be used for private dinners and receptions. We can accommodate a maximum of 30 on three round tables. We can also arrange one rectangle table for 22. There is a private walled garden outside the room and this can be used for pre-dinner drinks.

Old Bursary

Used daily for Fellows' lunch, the Old Bursary can be used for private dinners. Dating back to the 17th century, the room has views of the Fellows' Garden and the Front Quadrangle. Suitable for dinners of 20.

Fellows' Garden

A walled garden with spectacular views of the Radcliffe Camera. The garden can be used for drinks receptions up to 400.

Accommodation

Residential accommodation is in rooms usually occupied by students in term time.

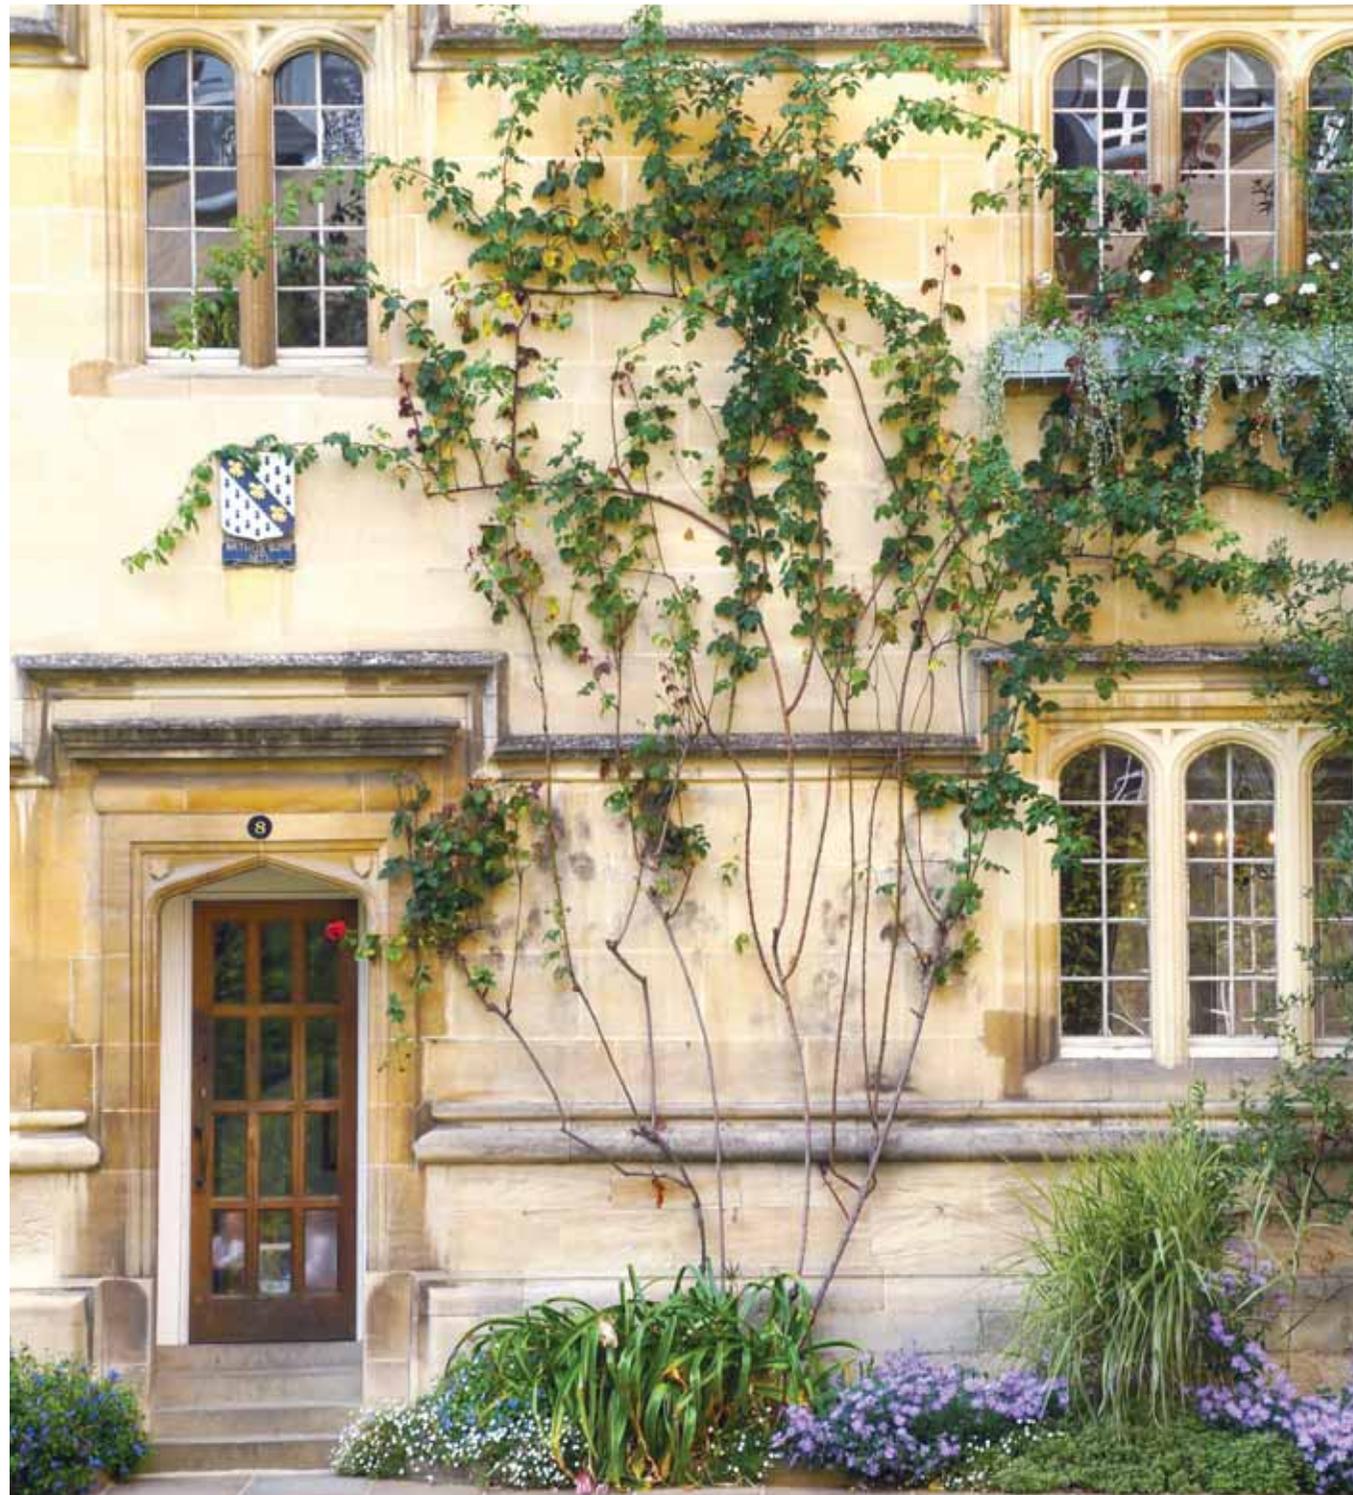

These comprise a mixture of:

- single study/bedrooms
- single ensuite rooms

By car - Like other historic cities Oxford was not built with motor transport in mind. If you are driving to Oxford it is advisable to use the Park and Ride service. There are five large Park and Ride areas on the city approaches, some with free car parking and frequent bus services into the city centre. The nearest short stay parking is in Parks Road and Broad Street.

By train - Exeter is a 15 minute walk from Oxford Station, via Hythe Bridge Street, George Street, Broad Street and Turl Street.

By coach - The nearest coach stop for London coaches is on the High Street by the Examination School. All other coaches will stop at the main coach station in Gloucester Green off George Street. Exeter College is a 10-minute walk from the coach station.
