

EXETER
COLLEGE
OXFORD

Professor Frank Close discusses solar eclipses at a seminar

Exeter College Rector's Seminars

Hilary Term 2018

You are warmly invited to a thought-provoking series of inspirational seminars given by global thought-leaders who shape society.

Xuan Wang: The State's Monetary Sovereignty and Individual Freedom

DPhil candidate, lecturer in Financial Economics, and former economist at the Bank of England Xuan Wang discusses The State's monetary sovereignty and individual freedom – the Past, the Present and the Future.

Wednesday 31 January (3rd week), 5.30 pm, Rector's Lodgings Drawing Room, Exeter College, Turl St

Professor Keith Humphreys: Dealing with drugs

Keith Humphreys, Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioural Sciences at Stanford University, explores the fundamental decisions societies must make when dealing with drugs.

Wednesday 28 February (7th week), 5.30 pm, Rector's Lodgings Drawing Room, Exeter College, Turl St

Biz Stone: Entrepreneurship and big business skills in high tech today

The co-founder of social-networking service Twitter and online publishing platform Medium, Biz Stone, will return to Exeter College to reflect on his experiences of entrepreneurship and big business in the modern tech industry a year after he rejoined the team at Twitter.

Sunday 4 March (8th week), 4.30 pm, Saskatchewan Room, Exeter College, Turl St

The seminars are designed to launch lively discussions on topics of general interest. No specialist knowledge is needed to attend the seminars.

All members of Exeter College and the University of Oxford, including students and staff, are welcome.