

EXETER COLLEGE, OXFORD

John Kufuor Scholarship

The College seeks to elect a John Kufuor Scholar from among students who are normally resident in Ghana and who have an offer of admission to study for a DPhil at Oxford University, starting in the academic year 2017–18. This Scholarship is created by a generous benefaction given in honour of H.E. John Agyekum Kufuor, President of the Republic of Ghana 2001–09, who was a student at Exeter College.

Where a suitable candidate is identified, the Scholarship will be awarded in conjunction with an Oxford University Clarendon Fund award, and together these awards will fund all University and College fees and a generous grant to cover living expenses.

The Scholarship is awarded for one year in the first instance, and will be renewable for the remaining years of DPhil fee liability subject to satisfactory academic progress being made.

The successful candidate will:

- be an applicant to the University of Oxford for admission to a DPhil degree starting in the academic year 2017–18, who has been offered a place at Oxford University;
- be awarded an Oxford University Clarendon award;
- be normally resident in Ghana;
- become a member of Exeter College and commit to remaining at Exeter College for the duration of their course;
- give an undertaking of intention to return to Ghana on graduation and to work in the public sector for at least one year to make a contribution to Ghana.

How to apply

There is no separate application process for this Scholarship; you simply need to apply for your graduate course by the relevant January deadline.

We will consider all eligible applicants to Oxford for this Scholarship, regardless of whether or not you state Exeter College as your preferred college on your graduate application form. If we offer this Scholarship we will also offer you a place at Exeter College, which will take the place of any earlier college offer you may have.
